The accumulation of first day news makes an extra amount of typesetting Monday morning, and it is physically impossible for even printers to crowd six hours work into three. Hereafter we cannot promise changes when the copy is sent in Monday morning. Remember, also, that this Ledger goes to press two hours earlier than any other paper.

DEATH'S HARVEST

Rev. John S. Hays, D. D., Ends a Long and Useful Life.

WAS OF A REMARKABLE FAMILY

After an illness extending over a period of several weeks, Saturday about 1:30 p. m. the long and useful life of the Rev. John S. Hays, D. D., was brought to a close. John Smith Hays was born at Plum Run, Pa., in 1813. He came of good Scotch-Irish ancestry, which has been for generations found in the way of righteousness. The brothers and sisters of deceased have been celebrated for their connection with the Ministry and with educational work. Two of his brothers were distinguished clergymen, one of them being the pastor of the General Assembly. One sister, the wife of Dr. McFarland, gave the better part of her life with her husband to missionary work in China. Five nephews are now in the Ministry or are actively engaged in preparation for it, and the only son of Dr. Hays was just entering the work when removed by death. For brilliancy and power of intellect the Hays family has been most remarkable.

Dr. Hays graduated in 1830 from Jefferson College, Washington, Pa., and in 1833 was ordained by Presbytery of New Albany. Since his ordination Dr. Hays has filled pastorates in several states, besides filling positions of honor in Colleges and Church Councils.

From 1857 he was connected with the Presbyterian Church at Charleston, Ind., at the same time teaching school there; from 1857-61 he was Pastor of the Second Church at Nashville, Tenn., afterwards going to Cincinnati, O., where for six months in 1861 he was Pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church. Severing his connection there he went to Frankfort, this state, where he was Pastor for five years, from 1867-72, also teaching school. His next field of work was at Louisville, where he preached at the Walnut Street Church from 1873 to 1875.

In 1875 Dr. Hays became Professor of Church History at the Theological Seminary at Danville, the College two years before, in 1873, conferring the Degree of Doctor of Divinity on this distinguished man.

He held the Chair at the Danville Seminary until 1883, during which year he was sent to Quincy, Ill., where he again became Pastor of the Church.

Leaving there in 1880 Dr. Hays came to this city, and it is from that period of his life to the time of his death that our people know him best.

Here for fourteen years he has been Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and Principal of Haywood Seminary, one of the best known institutions of learning for girls in Northern Kentucky.

Throughout the deceased Pastor's life he has been prominent for his high connection in Church work, as the record of his Pastorates will show, and at different times has held most of the honored and coveted places in the councils of Presbytery.

A number of years since, by an accident, Dr. Hays lost his eyesight, but through his indomitable will and courage continued his work at the Church and in his Seminary.

Certainly no man in Kentucky was more widely known than the Reverend gentleman whose death is now so sincerely mourned.

He was twice married, his second wife being the daughter of his first wife—Misses Paine, Paine and Carr Hays, Mrs. J. Foster Harbour, of all this city, and Mrs. William Matthews of Los Angeles, Cal., surviving.

His daughters have inherited the gifts and tastes of the Hays family for educational work.

The funeral will be held at the First Presbyterian Church this afternoon at 2 o'clock, with services by the Rev. John Harbour, assisted by Dr. Maurice Walker.

Dr. George D. Archibald of Covington, his old colleague at Danville Theological Seminary, had been invited to conduct services but was unable to come.

The remains will be taken to the early train tomorrow morning and will be interred by the side of the deceased.

Ray's Cough Syrup is guaranteed to cure. D. B. Judy, a prominent resident of Carlisle, is a faithful ally with analysis.

TAKES HIS LIFE!

Suicide Saturday of Mr. Charles Thomas Anderson.

THE FUNERAL THIS MORNING.

Saturday morning at 5 o'clock Mr. Charles T. Anderson, residing with his wife and two little children on West Third street, arose to start the fire and attend to early morning duties incident to home life.

About 6 o'clock he asked his wife if anything was needed for the morning meal. Receiving a negative reply, he left the house, ostensibly for a morning walk.

When breakfast was announced and his absence noticed no concern was felt, but upon his usual hour in death, to appear a search was instituted without locating him till 12 o'clock.

When the servant needed to go to a bedroom at the end of the hall and adjoining the dining-room, and upon opening the door she was confronted with an awful sight.

Upon the bed lay the body of the head of the household in death, with a seeping wound in his right temple, and a 20-caliber revolver near his head. Further across the bed lay the bullet that had passed through his head.

Mr. Anderson was a victim of paroxysm, which has been developing for several months, the stages of which were depressed spirits and excessive melancholia. Some ten days ago he was attacked with the prevailing grip which eventually affected his brain, culminating in the tragedy.

Charles T. Anderson was the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Anderson of the Washington neighborhood, born November 24, 1864.

About ten years ago he married Miss Emma Trigg of Mt. Olivet, moving to Louisville a few years ago where they have resided ever since.

He was at one time of the firm of Trigg & Anderson, owners of the Mt. Olivet and Mayville of this city, and later of Wells & Anderson, Ivesmen of this city.

A genial disposition and happy nature he made friends easily and was of that class who enjoy life with all of sunshine and very little cloud. Around his blithe traits were shad and affectionate heart run in twain for him who in a moment of grief he said to his Maker and day's sorrow over their lives which time will not efface. Two little boys are left without father's strong arm to protect them or a kindly heart to give them counsel and guidance; a widow and parents are cast under a load almost too heavy for human endurance.

His brother and sister-in-law the deceased, who were removed from their devotion a brother whom they loved.

The funeral occurred this morning at 10 o'clock from his late home, with services by Rev. J. O. A. Vaughn of the M. E. Church, South, to which the wife of the deceased belongs.

The interment was in the Mayville Cemetery.
